An American's Grand Slam

A True Adventurer's Unlikely Journey

BY RYAN WATERS AND HUDSON LINDENBERGER

On May 6, 2014 Ryan Waters and fellow explorer Eric Larsen stood atop the North Pole, after 53 grueling days battling their way over an ever-melting sheet of ice. By reaching the pole the two adventurers became the last persons to date to complete an unsupported trip to the North Pole from land. It was the final piece needed to complete the True Adventurers Grand Slam—standing atop the Seven Summits and skiing full length, unsupported and unassisted, expeditions to both the North and South Poles. His accomplishment that day made him just the 9th person and first American to gain entry into this exclusive club.

Ryan Waters is a professional mountaineer, mountain guide and polar adventurer. He has worked in the professional guiding and outdoor education field for 18 years. The expedition in this book was made into a two-hour Discovery Networks documentary.

Hudson Lindemberger is a full-time, award-winning journalist and author whose work has appeared in Men's Journal, Backpacker, 5280, and many other regional and national publications.

Highest and Hardest

A Mountain Climber's Lifetime Odyssey to the Top of the World

BY CHRIS KOPCZYNSKI

At age 16 Chris Kopczynski carved the words "Everest/Eiger" into the handle of his ice axe, marking his goal to climb the two mountains known as the "highest and the hardest." He accomplished that goal by the age of 33, becoming the ninth American to summit Everest and the first American to summit both the North Face of the Eiger and Mt. Everest. With the climbing addiction in his blood, he set new goals and became the twelfth in the world to climb the highest peaks on seven continents. This is his story of perseverance and survival on Robson in the Canadian Rockies, Chimney Rock in Idaho, the Pamirs and Elbrus in the USSR, Denali in Alaska, Makalu in Nepal, Antarctica's Vinson, Chile's Aconcagua, Kosciuszko in Australia, and Africa's Kilimanjaro.

Chris Kopczynski has climbed with John Roskelley for over 55 years. From their early days bouldering around Spokane, tackling the vertical and technical big walls of the Pacific Northwest to more challenging peaks around the world, they grew to become all-around mountaineers. Roskelley calls Chris the most underrated American mountaineer.

Breathtaking

How One Family Cycled Around the World for Clean Air and Asthma

BY PAULA HOLMES-EBER PH.D AND LORENZ EBER

The inspiring true story of a family paddling in a complete circle around the world using a carbon-free, environmentally way to travel to raise awareness of asthma—a disease that Paula has suffered from her entire life—and the world's desperate need for clean air. Peddling across Europe, Asia, the South Pacific and North America, the Ebers must work together to survive a 100-degree heat wave in Italy, drug smugglers in Russia, a broken foot in New Zealand and a tornado in the U.S. They are the only family on record to complete a full circumnavigation of the world by bicycle.

Paula Holmes-Eber, Ph.D., is an anthropologist, professor, and the author of six previous books. She has published dozens of articles about cycling and adventuring as a family, including frequent contributions to Adventure Cyclist and the League of American Bicyclists Magazine.

Lorenz Eber, P.E., is an aeronautical and civil engineer. His photographs have appeared in numerous books and magazines, including Time and on the cover of Adventure Cyclist.

Annapurna

The First Conquest of an 8,000-Meter Peak

BY MAURICE HERZOG, FOREWORD BY CONRAD ANKER

Top 100 Sports Books of All Time
—Sports Illustrated

In 1950, when no mountain taller than 8,000 meters had ever been climbed, Maurice Herzog led an expedition of French climbers to the summit of an 8,075-meter (26,493-foot) Himalayan peak called Annapurna. But unlike other climbs, the routes up Annapurna had never been charted. Herzog's masterful narrative is one of the great mountain-adventure stories of all time. Features a foreword by Alpine mountaineer Conrad Anker.

Maurice Herzog is a French mountaineer and sports administrator. He was the first person to summit an 8,000-meter peak (Annapurna) in 1950. His accomplishment was surpassed only when Everest was summited in 1953 by Sir Edmund Hillary and Tenzing Norgay.

Death in the Everglades

Accidents, Foolhardiness, and Mayhem in South Florida

BY RANDI MINETOR

Hidden in the tall grasses and shallow waters of the Florida Everglades are true tales of mysterious deaths, clandestine crime, and disasters, both natural and manmade. Collected here are some of the most gripping accounts in Everglades history, caused by natural forces, crime, operator error, or human folly.

Randi Minetor has written more than thirty books for Globe Pequot/Lyons Press, including Historic Glacier National Park, Backyard Birding, Hiking Waterfalls New York, Scenic Routes & Byways New York, and Day Trips Hudson Valley. She lives in Rochester, New York.

The Waters Between Us

A Boy, a Father, Outdoor Misadventures, and the Healing Power of Nature

BY MICHAEL J. TOUGIAS

“The Waters Between Us is a song of praise to the outdoors, an apology for boyhood misunderstandings, and a loving appreciation for a father whose grace, joy and kindness remained steadfast in the face of tragedy. Young Michael Tougias reminds me of Huck Finn, and it’s great fun to accompany him on his river adventures. But even more rewarding is the compassion he has gained in hindsight. You’ll be grateful to the boy, the man he became, and the father who quietly nurtured them both for this unforgettable memoir.”

—Sy Montgomery, National Book Award Finalist and NY Times Bestselling Author of Soul of an Octopus

Michael Tougias writes about maritime, travel, and adventure topics. He is a N.Y. Times Bestselling author of thirty books for adults, and eight for young and winner of the Independent Publishers “Best Nature Book of the Year”. Tougias is a frequent guest on NPR programs and national talk shows. He lives in Mendon, Massachusetts and Hobe Sound, Florida.

Thirty-Thousand Steps

A Memoir of Sprinting toward Life after Loss

BY JESS KEEFE

“Keefe’s remembrances of her brother are touching, and her explanation of the science of addiction and medical professionals’ failure to treat it as a medical condition and not a personal vice give broader context to Matt’s story. The result is a poignant exploration of addiction and loss.” —Publishers Weekly

Jess Keefe is a writer, editor, and advocate. Her writing has been published by Teen Vogue, HuffPost, McSweeney’s Internet Tendency, Runner’s World, and more. She has worked with national and local addiction nonprofits to increase naloxone availability and improve treatment standards. She lives in Richmond, Virginia.

Swim, Bike, Bonk

Confessions of a Reluctant Triathlete

BY WILL MCGOUGH

“The story of this impossible adventure is captivating. While he is sometimes reluctant, more often his voice brims with gung-ho, foolhardy, youthful bravado, plus generous doses of self-deprecation. McGough’s humor shines throughout, but most in his unselfconscious presentation of the physical toll that the race takes, including the difficulty of pee breaks when certain extremities have gone numb and the dreaded chafing of, well, everything.” —Foreword Reviews

Will McGough is an award-winning international travel writer and the owner of Wake and Wander Media. He graduated from Virginia Tech and has written for a variety of adventure and travel publications. He also guides trips and splits his time between Hawai’i, Colorado, and the road.

I Probably Should’ve Brought a Tent

Misadventures of a Wilderness Instructor

BY ERIK SHONSTROM

Laugh-out-loud funny, with echoes of Patrick F. McManus and Bill Heavy, this book combines anecdotes of over two decades of outdoor education experience with thoughtful narrative context and offers tales of adventure that both experienced mountain guides and armchair enthusiasts can dig into with abandon.

Erik Shonstrom has worked in education for over two decades. He has taught students while clinging to cliffs in Joshua Tree National Park; swimming frigid rivers in the High Sierra; snorkeling jellyfish infested waters off Mexico; paddling tippy kayaks amid the orcas of Puget Sound; trudging up narrow trails in the Adirondacks; and, occasionally, in the classroom. He has published a number of articles on education, learning, and the outdoors. He lives in South Burlington, Vermont.

Without Restraint

How Skiing Saved My Son’s Life

BY ROBERT C. DELENA AND RYAN C. DELENA

Written in two voices, Without Restraint is a joint father-son memoir told with both pain and levity, struggle and strength, adventure and heart. It is the story of a misunderstood boy, a father’s growth, and a shared love of the outdoors that formed their unbreakable bond.

Robert C. DeLena lives in Sudbury, MA with his wife, Mary Beth, and their daughter, Abigail. He spends time skiing with his son Ryan and the great friends he’s made during his journey from beginner to reluctant adventurer. Rob has skied all over the United States, internationally in Canada, Chile and Argentina, and even survived a backcountry expedition in Antarctica.

Ryan C. DeLena is currently a junior at Northern Vermont University studying Outdoor Education. He is widely known in the outdoor community through his social media presence as “Extreme Ryan.” Ryan has earned advanced certifications from the American Mountain Guides Association and the Professional Ski Instructors of America. He spends every available moment in the White Mountains and plans on adventuring in Svalbard, Peru, and Antarctica.

Nature at Your Door

Connecting with the Wild and Green in the Urban and Suburban Landscape

BY SARA A. GAGNÉ

In this book we learn that what we do in our yards matters just as much as the way our local parks and nature preserves are managed. Author and professor of landscape ecology Sara Gagné focuses on the ecological importance of our day-to-day activities and spaces we are most familiar with and can most influence. With cutting-edge science, anecdotal experiences, and practical recommendations, this book adds a fresh perspective to urban nature writing and appeals to those who want to take action to make the places they live greener, healthier, and more biodiverse for themselves, the wildlife, and the earth.

Dr. Sara Gagné is associate professor of landscape ecology in the Department of Geography and Earth Sciences at University of North Carolina Charlotte. She has trained with the best ecologists in the world and published scientific articles in high-impact journals such as Ambio and Bio Science. She lives in Charlotte, North Carolina.

Hiking Is Fundamental

A Step-by-Step Guide to Hitting the Trail

BY BARBARA ANN KIPFER

Hiking is Fundamental is an informative celebration of all things hiking. Illustrated list-style chapters cover the core elements of getting into hiking, from preparation to pacing. This inviting overview will demystify the whole hiking experience and give readers the tools and skills they need to get started with confidence. Hiking is not exclusive to the wealthy, the athletic, or the experienced. It's fun! And it's for everyone.

Dr. Barbara Ann Kipfer is an archaeologist, lexicographer, former sports writer, hiker, and author. She has written more than 65 books and calendars, mostly lists, including 14,000 Things to be Happy About, 1,001 Ways to Live Wild, 1,001

Ways to Slow Down, and 1,001 Ways to be Creative. Find more of Barbara's work online at thingstobehappyabout.com.

Mythbusting the Great Outdoors

What's True and What's Not?

BY JAMIE SIEBRASE, ILLUSTRATED BY OLIVIA WISCHMEYER

Mysteries, misunderstandings, mistakes and unapologetic myths lurk in every corner of the great outdoors. Is "earthquake weather" a real phenomenon? Just how dangerous are wild mushrooms? Can animals smell fear? And is moss even remotely useful for navigating through the wilderness? The skeptic's guide to everything you thought you knew about life outside tackles a wide range of common misconceptions plaguing the world of outdoor adventure, using science to debunk beliefs even longtime nature lovers might erroneously take as fact.

Jamie Siebrase is a Denver journalist and the author of Hiking with Kids Colorado: 52 Great Hikes for Families. When she's not on an adventure, she's writing about the outdoors and parenting for a variety of newspapers and magazines.
